

IRISH HOME RULE SUBSTITUTE BILL

Long Awaited Measure is Presented to House of Commons
By Chief Irish Secretary.

SEEMS TO SATISFY NOBODY.

Confers Little Self Government—
Council to be Appointed by Crown.
To Control Eight Departments.

London, May 7.—The government today presented its long-awaited Irish bill to the house of commons and the country. This bill is designed to meet the demands for Irish home rule. It was presented by the chief secretary for Ireland, Mr. Birrell, to a crowded house.

LITTLE SELF-GOVERNMENT.

The measure confers little self-government upon Ireland, merely giving to the council control of the eight departments now managed by government boards. The council is to be appointed by the crown and while the lord lieutenant of Ireland is given power to nullify its measures, the crown retains control of five of the eight departments, including the constabulary. The control of this branch always has been a thorn in the flesh of the Irish people. This half-way measure is wholly pleasing to no political party. The Unionists regard it as a step toward home rule. They object to giving Ireland the management of many departments of local affairs while the Irish members of parliament retain the right to legislate in similar affairs for England and Scotland. They criticize also the plan of government as resulting in a loss of some of the powers of the crown.

The Irish leaders, however, are maintaining a diplomatic attitude until they have time to study the provisions of the bill and learn the sentiment of the people.

A Nationalist convention will be held in Dublin to decide upon the Irish policy. The Laborites will support the measure because they are all home rulers.

To prevent the first reading of the bill being deferred until tomorrow, and while Walter Hume Long was still speaking, Mr. Birrell moved the closure. Then amid great uproar and protest and shouts of "Gag," the closure was carried by 417 votes to 121, and the bill passed its first reading by the votes to 121. The house then adjourned.

BALFOUR RIDICULES BILL.

After the bill had been presented and explained by Mr. Birrell on behalf of the opposition, John E. Redmond then delivered a brilliant speech, giving a dignified and forceful exposition of Ireland's claims for complete home rule. W. Bourke Corbett of New York was an interested spectator during the proceedings.

DUBLIN CASTLE A FAILURE.

Mr. Birrell called Dublin castle a failure, saying: "There it stands, remote, without a friend and in loneliness, while the current of Irish life sweeps past." "No governor had entered," he continued, "the gloomy portals of Dublin castle without a sinking of the heart almost equivalent to abandoning hope."

Parnell had said that one way to govern Ireland was to send a man there to hold the balance of all parties and administer the country in a spirit of courage and independence, but the government had no such man in its eye. "I would rather write the biography of a British autocrat," Mr. Birrell said, "than live under his rule. Such men do not make Irish history." Nobody, said Mr. Birrell, believed that the present administration of Ireland was sound in principle or economical. Under the proposed new scheme the Irish members would continue to sit at Westminster in undiminished numbers, but he hoped hereafter to find a more profitable channel for their inquisitiveness in managing local affairs at home. It was the intention of the bill to establish a representative administrative council consisting of 32 elected and 24 nominated members, the latter to be nominated the first year by the king and thereafter by the lord lieutenant of Ireland. Elected members would be elected on the local government board franchise. The under secretary to the lord lieutenant would be ex-officio member of the council.

GUARD YOUR HEALTH

DR. WILLIAMS' PINK PILLS A BOON TO ALL WOMEN.

Used to Keep the Blood Rich and Pure They Will Prevent Much Suffering and Misery.

As a woman approaches the age of forty or thereabouts, she should pay particular attention to her health. The hard work, which she may have been accustomed to do and the worry and excitement of her daily life should be lessened or avoided as much as possible. As her health after she passes this time will depend in a large measure upon it, every woman owes it to herself to build up her strength during these years. For this purpose Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have been recognized as the standard medicine, because of their great blood and tonic properties.

Mrs. Hannah A. Loefer, of 1151 Michigan Ave., Detroit, Mich., says: "I began taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills about four years ago, after I had been suffering for some years from dizzy spells and nervousness which were brought on by overwork. I tried several medicines without help and all the time became more irritable, nervous and weak. At times I had no appetite and could eat nothing. At intervals of every two or three days, my heart seemed to stop in my throat and I would have to lie down until the feeling passed away. I also had dull aching pains under my right shoulder and across my back. When I looked up, I would see black spots. Occasionally I would become so dizzy that I had to steady myself to keep from falling."

After taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for about a month, I had taken them a short time the dizzy spells became less frequent and finally stopped. Much sooner than I had expected. I now feel like a new person altogether."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are adapted for diseases due to impure blood, such as anemia, rheumatism, after-effects of the grip and fevers and in sickheadaches, dizziness, nervousness, neuralgia, and even partial paralysis and locomotor ataxia.

A valuable booklet entitled "Plain Talks to Women" will be sent free, in a sealed envelope upon request, to any woman interested.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or sent, postpaid, or receipt of price, 50 cents per box, six boxes for $2.50, by Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

which would have complete control of the powers vested in the department to be handed over to its care. The president of the council would be appointed by the council. If the council they must be given full powers.

SUPREMACY OF PARLIAMENT.

Exercise of the powers vested in the departments would be controlled by reasons of the council and the supremacy of the imperial parliament would be safeguarded by the power given to the lord lieutenant to reserve his consent to any results of the council and eight departments which would be made subject to the new council.

The departments coming under the control of the proposed Irish council would be the local government board, department of agriculture, congested districts board, commissioners of public works, national education and intermediate education, inspectors of factories and industrial schools and the registrar-general.

SEPARATE IRISH FUND.

For financial purposes a certain amount, to be fixed by parliament every five years, would be paid into a separate Irish fund. The present cost of the eight departments was estimated at a little over $10,000,000 yearly. The government proposed to hand over in addition the sum of $3,250,000 yearly, of which $1,000,000 must be devoted to public works and the remainder to the other departments. An Irish fund, therefore, of the amount of a little over $20,000,000 annually would be created.

The council would have the power to appoint or remove the officers of the eight departments, but the rights of the existing officers would be preserved. Under the bill any British subject would be able to hold the office of lord lieutenant without preference for any religious belief. A clause was also included providing that no preference whatever shall be shown to any religious denomination in appointments. "The government," concluded Mr. Birrell, "has been told that the bill saved the way for home rule. If the bill is passed and the new council is a success, then I dare say it might save the way. If, on the other hand, it is a failure, it might prevent the Unionists from refusing Ireland an opportunity for training her people to acquire any right they ought to possess because if the difficulties in the way of home rule have been removed."

OPPOSITION LEADER'S VIEW.

Mr. Balfour, opposition leader, characterized the bill as grossly unfair, as the Irish members of parliament were still able to interfere in English and Scotch affairs while the house of commons would be unable to say a word in the analogous business about to be transferred to the new council. He said the bill was not a legitimate measure, but a device to prevent the aspirations of the Irish and would only cause confusion in the administration and entail real grievances of Scotland and England.

JOHN REDMOND.

John Redmond, Irish leader, said until he and his colleagues had time to consider the bill and elicit Irish public opinion regarding it, no one could speak for him in any way. Mr. Redmond said he was not in a position to give an opinion on the bill until he had had time to consider it. He said he was not in a position to give an opinion on the bill until he had had time to consider it.

STEERAGE PASSENGERS AT WAR ON THE MAORI KING.

San Diego, May 7.—With 921 Chinese steerage passengers at war with 211 Russian steerage passengers, all on their way from Vladivostok and Shanghai to Matlay and Guyamas the British steamer Maori King put in here today in distress. A virtual state of mutiny exists on board the vessel and the ship is now lying in quarantine, guarded by immigration and custom officials, while waiting a settlement of the matter.

Capt. Duncan, who sighted the pier at Coronado, thought he could land there and get into shore water. The sea was calm, but the tide was falling and the vessel was being driven toward the pier. He finally entered the harbor and reported his condition.

SENSATIONAL CHARGES.

San Diego, Cal., May 8.—It was reported late last night that two sailors who have escaped from the British steamer Maori King, which arrived here yesterday from Shanghai, make sensational charges of brutality against the captain and officers of the ship. Rumors are in circulation to the effect that 15 Chinese sailors were killed during the riot on board and their bodies cast into the sea.

International complications are likely to result and it is believed that the most serious part of the affair remains yet to be told.

This is the sensational result of a long investigation into Ripplinger's methods and accounts carried on by Controller Carroll. Mr. Carroll made public his report tonight.

Ripplinger is now in Honduras, having gone there from California more than a month ago. It is doubtful whether he can be reached by law, as there is an extradition treaty between Honduras and the United States. For a year he has been in Mexico and California.

ed of would be moderated or removed. The federated governments regarded the modus vivendi as being only the first step toward reaching an understanding with the United States upon a much broader basis. American duties when compared with the German, he said, are extraordinarily high and in many classes of goods wholly outside imports. Therefore Germany hoped that further negotiations would bring a more just recognition of her claims. The United States should remember that Germany is one of her best customers.

Count von Scherwin-Loswitz, Conservative, said the modus vivendi by no means corresponded with the spirit of reciprocity as interpreted in the United States. What advantages the bill gave to German industry were definitely less than those Germany gave to the United States.

The agreement was eventually referred to a committee of 28 which, it is expected, will report in a few days.

All his near kin receive legacies, and there are bequests to two local hospitals. The will provides for a direct heir, but of this it is said, there is not a remote possibility. His nephews, George Grant Mason of Aberdeen, S. D., and William Smith Mason, are the principal beneficiaries of the estate, receiving two-thirds and one-third respectively of the residue. His cousin, James C. Keith of Vancouver, gets $100,000.

George Grant Mason was until recently division superintendent of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad. William Smith Mason is a bank officer at Evanston, Ill. The will, it is understood, will be offered for probate at Goshen, Orange county, tomorrow.

PRESTON SMITH MURDER TRIAL IS RESUMED.

Goldfield, Nev., May 7.—The Preston Smith murder trial was resumed today with the defense putting on witnesses to prove an alibi for the defendant charged with conspiracy. No testimony was introduced to prove the innocence of the men directly charged with the murder, the attempt apparently being to lay a foundation for an application for bail for St. John and others accused of conspiracy. Only three or four more alibi witnesses will be examined this afternoon when the defense will close. Rebuttal will begin tonight and it is expected that the case will go to the jury tomorrow. The miners' union has made public a letter to Judge Langdon strongly denouncing the author of the anonymous threatening note received by him yesterday and closing as follows: "We have every confidence in you and know that you will give the defendants a square deal, and that is all they are entitled to."

Fort Sill, Okla., May 7.—Lieut. Nichols of the Thirtieth infantry, testifying in the Knowles court-martial today, regarding the lay of the land about Fort Rucker where Capt. Edgar E. Macklin was shot on Dec. 22, 1906, stated that the chances were 12 to 1 against an intruder being detected. Knowles is charged with assaulting Capt. Macklin with intent to kill.

Jesse Fugua, the boy who found clothing tallying with that worn by the assailant, according to Capt. Macklin, identified the apparel and said it still bore the quartermaster's tag when found.

Testimony given by Mrs. Johnson, Capt. Macklin's cook, corroborated the officer's statement, except that she said the assailant carried a regular service revolver instead of a bought weapon.

HONORS TO CARDINALS.

Some of Newly Created Ones Given Military Honors on Return.

Rome, May 7.—Considerable discussion has been caused by the fact that some of the cardinals created at the consistory of April 15 were received with military honors on returning to their dioceses. The anti-Clericals thereupon organized counter-demonstrations. The governmental press maintains that the cardinals were entitled to military honors, as they rank with princes of the blood, and add that the participation of the troops was requested, especially by Cardinal Leunzelli, archbishop of Lucca, but the report that he asked the pope's permission in writing to receive military honors is incorrect.
